Military Experts Figure That Oyama Has a Chance to Cut off the Retreat.

Possibility of Peace, Based Upon
This Latest Japanese Victory
Being Discussed.

The fate of the Russian army of a quarter of a million men and the 2,000 pieces of artillery with which it was expected confidently General Kuropatkin and his lieutenants could prevent the advance of the Japanese beyond the Shakhe and the Hun river positions, is still in the balance. The Russians have been driven from their positions and are now rushing northwest toward Tie pass, around which are high hills which were prepared for defense after the battle of Liao Yang in September.

That the Russians have lost many guns and large quantities of ammunition and supplies is certain. Immense stores, it seems certain, have been destroyed. The Japanese have not yet reported the capture of guns, but it seems hardly likely that Kuropatkin could have removed all of his artillery.

The result of Oyama's great turning movement is said to depend on General Kamamura's army, which is supposed to be moving from the east toward Kuropatkin's line of retreat. Should he reach the military road, which runs almost in a direct line from Fusan to Tie pass, before the passage of the Russian army, the circle will be complete, as Nogri's guns already command the railway and should soon control the Mandarin road, which is a short distance east of the railway and runs parallel with it. The army of General Kaulbars, which has been pressed back across the Western plain, fighting every inch of ground, is moving northwest to protect the line of retreat from the westward attacks, while General Bilderling is protecting the rear against Generals Oku and Nodzu, and Linevitch is doing his best to hold the military road against Kuropatkin. They have numbers against them, but have succeeded against odds in similar retreats before. The appearance of General Kamamura might render futile all their efforts. General Rennenkampf's force of somewhat fewer than 10,000 men on the extreme east is in a precarious position, but the force is a mobile one, and the officers know the mountains well. With the exception of Rennenkampf's, all the Russian troops are now concentrated on the roads leading northwest, and it may take another twenty-four hours to decide their fate.

Even should Kuropatkin extricate his army, it is believed in some European capitals that peace will soon follow this latest Japanese victory. The calling to St. Petersburg of Mr. Iswolsky, Russian minister to Denmark, who formerly was in Tokio, is regarded as significant.

The losses in the operations preceding the battle and those in the battle proper must have reached enormous proportions, but up to the present neither side has attempted an estimate. They will exceed the Shakhe losses, in which the Russians alone lost in killed, wounded and missing 67,000 men.

THE LITERATURE OF WAR

Is Added to by Gen. Kuropatkin's Laconic Message.

St. Petersburg, March 6.—"Last night all our armies commenced to retreat."

The greatest defeat in the history of the far eastern war was made known in St. Petersburg last night, but only in the foregoing eight words from General Kuropatkin to Emperor Nicholas. This brief message, was flung about the streets in newspaper extras, and it was passed from mouth to mouth. Two thoughts formed instantly in the minds of every one, and two words were on every lip: Surrender: peace—the former dreaded, the latter hoped for.

Gen. Kuropatkin is no maker of phrases; his words never are quoted like the famous "All is lost save honor," but his laconic message hides more than probably any other sentence in the literature of war. St. Petersburg knows nothing of the extent of the disaster, not even the lines of Kuropatkin's retreat; whether the route to Tie Pass is still open, whether he is endeavoring to cut his way through to safety, or whether, as many pessimists believe, he has taken to the mountains. If he has fled into the mountains, he will inevitably be hemmed in and starved into surrender.

The dispatch from Kuropatkin has been studied, and from the words "All our armies" optimists draw the conclusion that the bulk of the Russian forces got away clear, the commander-in-chief sacrificing, however, the devoted rear guard, which flung itself as a prey to the Japanese who were closing in on their trail and sacrificing on each hand the greater part of his heavy artillery, especially the siege guns and enormous quantities of supplies.

Of the present situation of the army, of the proportion of Russians left in Japanese hands, or of the prospect of the escape of the remainder, St. Petersburg at this moment knows less than the smallest hamlet in America. Since a Mukden press dispatch filed at 5 o'clock Friday morning no dispatch save the brief official announcement of the retreat has come from the Russian army. General Kuropatkin's preceding dispatch giving the last details as to the positions of the army having been written at 9 o'clock Thursday evening. Everyone now is discussing peace, which many of the staunchest advocates of the war, bureaucrats and officers now declare to be inevitable. It openly is bruited that Rojstvensky's fleet has been recalled and is now on the way home. The admiral declined to comment on the significance of the cancellation of the purchase of colliers, or the direction of Rojstvensky's voyage from Madagascar waters. It can be said, however, that no overtures for peace have yet been made and none is likely to be made for a few days, until the extent of the disaster has developed.

Aside from peace, defeat may bring other consequences in its train. That an enormous impetus has been given to the reform movement is plain even to the most reactionary conservatives; but the immediate result chiefly dreaded is the effect on internal disorders, not only in the capital, but also, since St. Petersburg is not Russia, on the millions of peasants in the vast agricultural regions, among whom the spirit of revolt is now incubating and already has hatched pillage and arson in a few districts.

CEMENT FENCE POST.

A Cambridge City Man Has a Unique Invention on Market.

Gus Garrett, of Cambridge City, has invented and received a patent on a cement fence post that is attracting widespread attention. By means of soft metal nailing clips, arranged in the face of the post before it hardens, boards can be attached to it with ordinary nails or wire with common wire staples with the same ease and convenience as if the post was made of wood. The clips being made of lead or some other soft metal will not rust, and they are so fastened in the body of the post that they cannot become loose and fall out or be removed. A half interest in the invention is owned by A. R. Peemster, also of Cambridge City. The post will likely be manufactured by the Ideal Cement company to supply the tributary territory of Indiana and Ohio, and the rights for other States will be sold.

NEEDED HERE

The Greenfield Fruit Jar and Bottle company have had plans made to build a new glass factory. They propose to put in a gas producing plant and several large glass tanks. This new factory will be a model of neatness and convenience, and will be greatly enlarged over their present capacity. Where the factory will be built the company has not yet decided. They are considering Shelbyville, Indianapolis, Terre Haute and Evansville. If the factory could be located here freight rates on coal and material will be an important item as Rushville is hard to beat as a railroad center for a town of this size. There are many good locations here. Our business men should behoove themselves to secure this enterprise.

MARRIAGE LAW IS STRINGENT

It is Now Dangerous to go to Another State to Get Spliced.

County Clerks, Ministers and Justices Must be Very Careful of Mistakes.

Applicants for marriage licenses, from now on, shall state their own and their parents' names, color, occupation, birthplace, residence and ages and whether marriage contemplated is the first, second or other marriage.

Licenses will not be issued to imbeciles, epileptics or persons of unsound mind. Those suffering from transmissible diseases will be barred from marriage. No male person who has been an inmate of a poor asylum within five years of the time an application will be granted a license, unless he be able to show that the cause of his being an inmate of such an asylum has been permanently removed.

When the county clerk refuses to grant a license to marry, the applicants shall have taken up a bona fide residence in the State where married.

If a couple, to avoid the provisions of the Indiana law, go into another State to be married, it is provided that the marriage shall be declared void on their return unless they shall have taken up a bona fide residence in the State where married.

False statements for the getting of a marriage license will be finable in any sum not exceeding $500, and a similar penalty may be inflicted for the wrongful marriage of a couple not having a proper license. Should a clerk fail to comply with the law it is made the specific duty of the prosecuting attorney to bring an action against him and he may be fined in any sum a jury may see fit. The prosecutor will get a fee of $20 for his trouble in such cases.

The new law, it is thought, will have much to do in lessening the divorce evil.

SCHOOL BOOK LAW IS SIGNED

The act of the legislature passed at its last session, prohibiting the changing of text books used in the public schools oftener than once in ten years has been signed by the governor and is now the law or will be when the acts are published if there is no emergency clause attached to the act. The patrons of the schools are much pleased with the law as the expense of changes of school books falls heavily upon a large number who are not very well able to stand it.

BARNARD WILL

The will of the late Granville S. Barnard, of Morristown, was probated in the Shelby circuit court Friday. The instrument was drawn on the 24th day of February, 1905, and is witnessed by Charles P. Zike and Charles S. Patten.

He asks that after all his just debts are paid, that his farm of one hundred and two acres be given to his wife, Sally A. Barnard. To her he also gives $500 in stock of the Union State bank of Morristown.

To his sons, Warren G., Arthur B., and Henry Earl he gives $1500 to be divided equally, the money to come from his personal estate.

To his wife he also wills the household goods, farming implements, live stock and all moneys not otherwise disposed of in the bequests named. He named his wife as executrix and she has qualified in the sum of $6000.

WATCH OUT FOR HIM

A Clever Check Forger is Said to be Headed This Way—is Quite Successful.

A clever check forger is thought to be working this way. According to reports he is successful in other cities. He is described as about 38 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, smooth face, dark brown hair and weighs about 160 pounds.

He uses a check from a bank in a neighboring city, using the name of a prominent resident in that city as payee. He gives his address in a certain block on a certain street, and is able to tell something about the people living in the neighborhood, having posted himself beforehand. He also has a letter purporting to be from the payee, and the letter explains how the check happened to be sent to him, and he is thus able to put up a story that sounds good.

He visits a merchant and buys goods of near the value of the check, orders the goods sent to his address and then takes the balance in cash and disappears.

CANNOT KEEP SHERMAN LONG

Butler County Sheriff Will Have to Take Him to Prison by March 20.

Charles V. Sherman now in jail at Hamilton, Ohio, under a life sentence for the murder of his wife Mayme C. Sherman, is getting dangerously near the beginning of his term of confinement in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus. The sheriff can only hold him for thirty days from the time of his sentence and this time will expire on the 20th. It has been in consideration of a farewell visit from Sherman's mother that he has been held so long, but she has not come, and by or before March 20th Sherman must be delivered as a life prisoner to the penitentiary.

THE FEBRUARY COURT TERM

Ended Today—the Last Day's Session Was Not a Busy
One.

Today was the last day of the February term of the Rush circuit court, and there was no rush of business to mark the ending. A large amount of business was left over until the adjourned term which convenes on April 3d, before special judge, L. L. Broadus, of Connersville. Judge Sparks granted Martha J. Davis a divorce from George W. Davis on the ground of drunkenness and failure to provide.

A motion for a new trial was filed in the case of James A. English vs. Rebecca A. Newkirk, but action was deferred until the adjourned term. The divorce case of Susan O. Hayes vs. George A. Hayes came up for trial. The defendant did not put in appearance, and after hearing the evidence the court granted the divorce, but gave the custody of the minor children, Orpheus, Bessie and Hazel Hayes to the defendant, providing that he pay the costs of the trial.

Several other matters of lesser importance were transacted and court adjourned to meet in adjourned session on April 15th.

Court opens at Shelbyville Monday and Judge Sparks will leave for that place Monday morning.

Too many girls are more prone to weep over the miseries of some book heroine than to help poor, tired mothers get the dinner.

ABOUT READY FOR THE JURY

The Chadwick Case is Rapidly Drawing to a Close.

Mrs. Chadwick Says, "I Have
About Given Up All Hope of A Chance."

Cleveland, O., March 11.—Today will see the close of the present trial of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick. The case will be given to the jury late this afternoon. The oratorical siege guns opened this morning. District Attorney Sullivan will close for the government.

It was a trying day for Mrs. Chadwick, and her pale face and nervous manner showed that the strain of the trial is telling on her. The attack made on her financial methods disturbed her greatly. When the assistant attorney showed the jury by her own checks that without having any money in the bank she had secured loans amounting to $187,000, and $104,000 of it one day, when the total amount which the bank could legally lend to one person was only $6,000, the prisoner sank back in her chair with a discouraged look.

She was greatly discouraged at the time of the midday adjournment, and said: "I have about given up all hope. I have not any chance in this court."

When her own attorneys were making arguments, she brightened up very much. Her troubles will not be over, however, even if acquitted in the present case. District Attorney Sullivan said that he would probably bring about a second trial on another indictment immediately following her acquittal in the present case.

THE LECTURE

George R. Wendling Greeted by a Large Audience at
M. E. Church.

Last evening, Dr. Tevis introduced to the public, Mr. George R. Wendling, of Champaign, Illinois, who delivered one of the most interesting and instructive lectures of the season.

Mr. Wendling chose for his subject, "The Bible, the Imperial Book," and delivered his address in such an attractive style that he held the wrapped attention of a large audience throughout the evening.

Mr. Wendling began his talk by telling the influence of the Bible, the necessity of its constant discussion, and its marvelously wide circulation far beyond that of the greatest of all other books combined. Three hundred million copies of the Bible are now in circulation in over four hundred different languages and dialects.

In the body of his address Mr. Wendling developed facts along four different lines of study of the Bible, namely—its, unity, adaptability, universality and divine origin. Its unity was shown by the facts that it took 1500 years for its writing, which was accomplished by men of different races and classes, yet there is one and the same predominate idea throughout the whole. He told very beautifully how it is adaptable to the very poorest and yet so magnificent in its eloquence as to astound the most learned. His argument in favor of its divine origin were thoroughly logical and were presented eloquently. In substance it was this: That the writers of the Bible were men crude in learning, compared with the Romans and Greeks of their day; that they were after all, merely sinful men, just as we are; that they wrote, not as do most writers, to win the approval of men, but to condemn them for their sins. Yet the Bible has been accepted for these nineteen centuries, and is constantly growing more powerful in spite of the fact that its critics of today are men of far more learning than the ancient Greeks and Romans, and that men are yet sinful and disinclined to be rebuked.

BEGUN ON THE ATLANTIC

Was a Courtship That Will Result in a Marriage at New Castle.

Miss Edith King, one of New Castle's popular belles, will be married March 23d at her home in that city to John Blake Hedges, an automobile manufacturer of Kentucky. The couple became acquainted on a liner while crossing the Atlantic ocean. Miss King is exceedingly popular at New Castle and a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan University. She has visited in this city on several occasions and has many friends and acquaintances here.

INDICTMENTS BY THE SCORE

The Grand Jury in Its Report
Says Some Sharp Things.

That the grand jury which adjourned at 11:30 today did a "land-office" business during the four weeks of its session is evidenced by the fact that it returned 149 indictments.

During the investigation about 235 witnesses were examined and some startling things were developed. Foreman William A. Allen today submitted a written report to Judge Sparks which set forth some very humiliating things, which, according to the findings of the jury, have been carried on in our city.

The report states the jury visited the county infirmary and the jail and were wholly satisfied and pleased with their management and condition.

It further states that it is a fact, forcibly impressed upon the jury by a score of witnesses, that week after week and month after month, flagrant and shameful violations of the law—saloons open on Sundays and after hours, having in connection gambling rooms, and visited by many minors both from the city and county who loitered, drank and gambled there—had been carried on in the city and that professional gamblers have been imported from other cities in Indiana and Illinois for the purpose of preying upon the citizens from whom they have taken thousands and thousands of dollars, within easy knowledge of the municipal authorities of the city, who make no effort to molest them.

The report stated further, that the people could not hope for good results from the jury's labor unless they choose more faithful officers.

THE GRAND JURY WANTS TO KNOW

Terre Haute, Ind., March 11.—Representative Guir of Clay county was before the grand jury for some time in regard to the statement he made in the legislature that there was a $100,000 "graft" in building the bridge over the Wabash river here. As a result of his testimony a number of subpoenas have been issued.

Didn't Hear the Train.
Muncie, Ind., March 11.—John Bradburn, fifty years old, a man of family, was struck by a freight train on the Big Four railway near the city and fatally hurt. He was walking on the track and did not hear the approach of the train.

NEW TRIAL DENIAL

Martinsville, Ind., March 11.—Judge Williams has denied the application of Granville Costin and son Orle for a new trial, and they will be transferred to the reformatory under the indeterminate sentence act unless the supreme court orders a new trial. They stand convicted of an attempt to kill Green Ratts at an election precinct in Ashland township, the trouble occurring in November last.

INQUIRY IS BEING MADE

Secretary of the Interior
Gives a Statement of the Oregon Situation.

A U. S. Senator, Two Congressmen and a Score of Lesser Officials Incriminated.

Washington, March 11.—Secretary Hitchcock has given out a statement concerning the investigation made by the department of the interior into the irregularities in Oregon in connection with the public lands. It shows that there have been sixty-eight indictments and six convictions. Of the indictments fifty-two are for conspiracy to defraud the government and the others for the various crimes of perjury, subornation of perjury, obstructing the administration of justice, etc. The persons indicted include one United States senator—J. H. Mitchell; two congressmen, Binger Hermann and John N. Williamson; eight attorneys, one state and two ex-state attorneys; an ex-assistant United States attorney and his deputy; an ex-surveyor general and deputy and several deputy surveyors; ex-examiners of surveys; ex-special agents; one United States commissioner and two ex-commissioners and a number of land and timber dealers and homesteaders. The names of two women appear in his list, one of them being Emma L. Watson, convicted of conspiracy, and the other, Nellie Brown, indicted for the same offense.

BUSINESS NECESSITY

The Indianapolis News chronicles the dissolution of a dry goods firm in an Indiana town, which for seventeen years had maintained an uphill fight against modern business methods only to be beaten at last. The firm in question had the best site in the town, and hosts of friends; and when its field was invaded by other houses that advertised, it refused to throw its money away for newspaper space. Gradually the new stores won the patronage of the old one; new customers failed to appear to take the place of the deserters, and the firm that tried to get along without advertising has finally relinquished its business. Which demonstrates again that advertising is not a luxury, but a necessity.

BY THE WAYSIDE

"A mother sent her small boy into the country and after a week of anxiety received this letter: 'I got here all right but I forgot to write before. A feller and I went out in a boat and the boat tipped over and a man got me out. I was so full of water that I didn't know anything for a long time. The other boy has to be buried after they find him. His mother came and cried all the time. A horse kicked me over and I've got to have some money for fixin' my head. We are going to set a barn on fire tonight and I should smile if we do not have some bully fun. I am going to bring home a tame woodchuck if I can get him in my trunk.'"

RUSHVILLE, IND. MAR. 11, 1905.

The school principals of the State want commencement exercises to consist of an address by some distinguished orator. It is getting so now-a-days that it is hard to see where the graduates comes in.

Candidates for the November State election in 1906 are already springing up. State Senator J. G. Powell, of Logansport, this week announced his candidacy for the office of State Auditor, and is the first one made for that office.

This issue of the Republican presents its readers with a synopsis of all the laws passed by the Indiana Legislature, which includes the Legislative Apportionment, Railroad Commission, Private Banking and the Moore bill. Every reader of the Republican should be interested in all new laws that go on the statute books.

EARLY APPOINTMENTS

Are Expected in the Matter of the Railway Commission.

Indianapolis, March 11.—The report that Governor Hanly will appoint the railway commission the latter part of next week has been confirmed by him. "The sooner the appointments are made the better," he said. "I have a great deal of work other than that of making appointments, and I will get this matter off my hands as soon as possible." He declined, however, to intimate who he will appoint. Although it is generally believed that Union Banner Hunt, the governor's private secretary, will get one of the places, it is said he has informed some of his intimate friends that he will not be a member of the commission. It is said the governor thinks seriously of appointing H. C. Sheridan, a Republican business man at Frankfort.

The preliminary movements to the city campaign here are now taking place. Martin Hugg has headed off a movement to make him the Republican mayoralty candidate. It is said that Newton Harding, who was defeated for mayor by T. Taggart a few years ago, may be a candidate for the Republican nomination. His name has been mentioned since the defeat of Bookwalter in the municipal campaign two years ago. Harding, it is said, would like to have the nomination, and it is also understood that Bookwalter is laying his lines to capture it. Many Republicans believe that Bookwalter could defeat Mayor Holtzman this time, inasmuch as he has cut loose from the political gang that helped make his administration unpopular. It is the understanding among the Democrats now that Mayor Holtzman will have no opposition for renomination and that James L. Keach will be asked to serve as chairman of the city committee. Robert Metzger, former sheriff, is a candidate for chairman of the Republican city committee.

The announcement is made that Judge Samuel R. Artman of Lebanon is a candidate for the Republican nomination for appellate court judge. He resides in the northern district, which is represented by Judges Wiley, Roby and Black, all of whom are candidates for renomination, as are Judges Comstock, Myers and Robinson of the southern half of the state. It is also understood that Supreme Judges Monk and Jordan, whose terms expire next year, will be candidates for renomination. Each has served twelve years. There promises to be a lively scramble for the places on the bench of the higher courts.

It is understood that the Marion county grand jury, which met several days ago in special session to consider the bribery charges made against ex-Senator O. A. Baker of Marion, lobbyist for the tobacco trust, by Representative Ananias Baker of Rochester, has returned an indictment against the lobbyist. Several indictments were returned, but none were given out for publication. It is reported that Fred Eward, a Marion business man who knew Baker the lobbyist personally, saw him this week at Chicago, hurrying to catch a train. Eward spoke to him, but Baker did not stop.

Vice President Fairbanks will get home a few days earlier than expected. He will be one of the candidates in the class that will be initiated at the spring convocation of the Scottish Rite Masons. He rode the blue lodge goat during the holidays and is now preparing for the higher degrees. His appearance as a member of the class will cause the convocation to take on additional interest. It is expected that three or four thousand members will attend.

A COSTLY RULING

Uncle Sam Is Out of Pocket Five Millions by It.

New York, March 11.—Judge Wheeler, in the United States circuit court of appeals, has handed down an opinion which finally sustained by the United States circuit court of appeals, will cost the United States government $5,000,000. This money the government will have to refund to the American Sugar Refining company for duties paid to it on raw sugars imported from Cuba in 1903 and on which the company contended a reduction of 20 per cent should have been allowed under the existing treaty at that time. The court of appeals confirms this contention.

Missourians Want to Know. Jefferson City, Mo., March 11.—Judge Martin of the Cole county court has made an order for a special grand jury to convene here on next Tuesday for the purpose of investigating charges of boodling in connection with the breeders' law repeal bill which passed the senate Thursday, and for other legislative boodling charges.

TO CLOSE SALOONS

State Temperance League Will Draw the Lines Under the New Law.

INDIANA TO BE "DRY"

Officers of the Organization Declare They Will Close Three-Fourths of the Saloons.

Unlooked For Power, They Maintain, Is Given Them Under Provisions of Moore Law.

Indianapolis, March 11.—That Indiana will be almost a "dry" state within a year and that all the saloons will be closed in Indianapolis is the prediction of Superintendent Humphrey of the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana.

A crusade to make Indianapolis a "dry" town is about to be inaugurated by the Anti-Saloon League of Indiana. It is a big proposition but will probably be attempted during the spring. Humphrey and his associates believe it will be possible under the Moore law enacted by the recent legislature to close 75 per cent of the saloons in Indiana within twelve months and eventually to make the state dryer than Kansas ever was. The law provides for a remonstrance against one or all the applicants for retail license in a ward or township. It was the understanding that the framers of the law originally did not have in mind a remonstrance covering an entire township in which a city is located, but Humphreys and others connected with the league in official capacity have consulted lawyers who say all the applicants in a township may be defeated regardless of whether or not a city is included. If a majority of the voters sign a remonstrance against them.

The plan here will be to hold public meetings in the churches and open air and to circulate remonstrances then. Practically all of Indianapolis is located in one township. Many saloon men do not believe the law contemplates a remonstrance against an entire township in which there is a city with a number of wards, but that separate remonstrances must be filed in each ward.

TO ABOLISH GOVERNMENT

That Is the Cure to the World's Evils, as Tolstoi Sees It.

London, March 11.—Count Tolstoi, in a letter to the Times of London which was published this morning, says that he regards not only the Russian government, but all governments, as "intricate institutions sanctified by tradition and custom for the purpose of committing by violence and with impunity the most dreadful social crimes." He therefore thinks the efforts of those who wish to improve social life should be directed to the liberation of themselves from the governments whose utility in these times is becoming more and more obvious. This object could only be attained by the unique means of religiously and morally perfecting separate individuals. The idea is prevalent that the evil caused by the "present-day coarse, cruel, stupid and deceitful Russian government" is due to the fact that the Russian government is not organized on the model of other existing governments, which "are similar institutions for the commitment of all kinds of crimes against their people." For the purpose of correcting this the people had used all the means at their disposal, "imagining that an alteration of the external forms might alter the essence." Such activity, Count Tolstoi says, is inexpedient and unreasonable in that the people assert rights which they do not have.

In conclusion Count Tolstoi says that in America, France, Germany, Japan and England, the pernicious character of the governments is so marked that those belonging to those nations point to events in Russia and naively imagine what is done in Russia is done only in Russia, while they enjoy complete freedom and need no improvement of their positions. "But," he adds, "they are in the most hopeless state of slavery—the slavery of slaves who do not understand that they are slaves and pride themselves on their position as slaves. The fact is that every coercive government is in the essence a great and unnecessary evil. Therefore the aim both of the Russians and of all men should not be to replace one form of government by another, but to free themselves from every government and abolish it."

Will Have to Go to Jail.

Lexington, Ky., March 11.—The Hargises and Ed Callahan have wired Judge Parker of the circuit court, which was yesterday given jurisdiction over them by the appellate court, that they would surrender to the Fayette court without resistance and would arrive in Lexington today to subject themselves to the court's orders. They will have to go to jail. J. H. Hargis is county judge of Breathitt county.

The Potent St. Patrick.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 11.—To avoid an execution on St. Patrick's day, when William Rudolph, murderer of Detective Charles Schumacher, was to be hanged, Governor Folk has granted a respite of thirty days. The petition for the respite was signed by large numbers of Irish Catholics.

Wichita, Kan., March 11.—J. C. Casey, head of the Casey Wholesale Mercantile company, was shot through the head and instantly killed by James Oliver. Oliver lost $23,000 in the failure of the Casey & Garst Mercantile company a few months ago, and the misfortune preyed on his mind. He demanded his money when the firm was reorganized and had several heated arguments with Casey over the loss. Yesterday while Casey was seated at his desk, Oliver slipped up behind him and fired three times without warning. Oliver walked to police headquarters and gave himself up. Casey was prominent in church circles and society.

New York Strike Broken.

New York, March 11.—Although the local leaders are continuing the fight, despite the fact that the national leaders have repudiated their action in calling the men out, the strike on the subway and the elevated railway systems has passed the acute stage, and trains are being run with little delay.

Where the Grain Is.

Washington, March 11.—According to the monthly crop report issued by the agricultural department, the percentage of wheat remaining in the hands of farmers is 20.1 or 111,000,000 bushels; of corn, 38.7 per cent, or 954,000,000 bushels; of oats, 38.8 per cent, or 347,000,000 bushels.

Cuba's Ideas of Legislation.

Havana, March 11.—The winter session of congress has ended. There has been no quorum of the senate for a week and no quorum of the house for two days. President Palma's requests for the enactment of certain of the more urgent measures were not complied with and nothing special was enacted during the session except the appropriation for sanitation of the larger cities and the authorization of purchase of the National theater.

Lawyer Takes Big Oath.

New York, March 11.—The United States Steel corporation, with a capitalization of $1,100,000,000, was assessed for $10,000,000 personal property by the local tax officials this year.
